The requirements for the SEN Information Report have been incorporated into this document, based on the latest draft version of the Special Educational Needs (Information) Regulations (correct as of May 2014). Questions providing information required as part of the Information Report Regulations are shown using the letters IRR (Information Report Regulations).

Identification

How will you know if my child or young person needs extra help? (IRR)

Children who need extra help are identified as soon as possible in our school. Initial identification is usually through comments and concerns brought by parents, the pupil's previous school, or school staff working directly with the child. It may also be through a lack of progress over a term; a change in the child's behaviour or observation indicates that the child has an additional need in one of the following four areas:

- Communication and interaction
 - Cognition and learning
 - Social, emotional and mental health
 - Sensory/physical
- Initial concerns will be raised with the school's SENDCO. Following this, the SENDCo, the child's teacher and other staff who work with the child, the child and the child's family will discuss what the desired outcomes are for the child and what provision may be necessary to achieve the outcomes.
 - Following discussion, it may be appropriate to follow a programme of early intervention designed to target the area of need or to move straight to a support plan.
 - The SENDCO keeps a register of children who need additional support in order to plan provision and monitor progress.

What should I do if I think my child or young person needs extra help?

If you are concerned about your child needing extra help then you should speak to your child's class teacher in the first instance who will be happy to arrange an appointment with you. The class teacher will then speak to the SENDCo. Alternatively, you may wish to contact the SENDCo directly by making an appointment via the school office.

Where can I find the setting/school's SEND policy and other related documents? (IRR)

- All school policies relating to SEND can be found on our website: <https://www.williamamory.co.uk/>

Teaching, Learning and Support

How will you teach and support my child or young person with SEND? (IRR)

All pupils will be provided with high quality differentiated teaching to meet the diverse needs of all learners. Pupils with a disability will be provided with reasonable adjustments to ensure they can access the curriculum.

If a pupil requires additional support, they may be placed in a small group run by a teacher or TA for additional support either in or away from the classroom. These interventions usually run for a term and may include both children on the SEND register and those who are not. The differentiated teaching being provided will also be reviewed and if necessary the teacher will be provided with additional strategies to further support the progress of the child.

If the initial intervention does not increase the rate of progress, the school will consider whether the child will require SEND support. The views of the child and the parents will be taken into consideration. Appropriate interventions will be identified, recorded and implemented by the class teacher with support from the SENDCo, with the aim of increasing both progress and independence in learning. A child needing targeted SEND support will have a SEND Support Plan drawn up by the class teacher in consultation with the parents and the child, supported by the SENDCo and, where necessary, outside agencies. This will be based on the child's individual needs and include academic and developmental targets for them to work towards. It will also detail the additional support, which may be adjustments in the classroom (such as a coloured overlay or a sloping writing desk), or TA support.

The effectiveness of these interventions is monitored termly with parents to ensure maximum impact. The individual outcomes of interventions are recorded on a provision map which is completed by the class teacher and monitored by the SENDCo.

The school has a range of intervention programmes to support children, which go beyond class based approaches. Some are published or commercially available packages; others are bespoke/personalised approaches based on best practice guidance. For those with significant or complex needs, including children with EHCPs, the school seeks the advice of specialists, for example: speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, education psychologists, autism team. In some cases these specialists might work in school with the child, or school staff might observe sessions in order to gain specific skills from these specialists. These specialists may also deliver training to school staff.

How will the curriculum and learning environment be matched to my child or young person's needs? (IRR)

Class Teachers plan lessons according to the specific needs of all groups of children in their class, and will ensure that learning tasks are adjusted in order to enable your child to access their learning as independently as possible. Where pupils have SEND, class teachers will know the pupil's strengths and areas for development, and will make every effort to provide for these. Their work may be further differentiated by the class teacher to remove barriers to learning and enable them to access the curriculum more easily. Specially trained support staff may be able to implement the teachers' modified/adapted planning to support the needs of your child where necessary. Specific resources and strategies will be used to support your child individually and in groups. Planning and teaching will be adapted on a daily basis if needed to meet your child's learning needs.

How are the setting, school, or college's resources allocated and matched to children or young people's needs?

- The SEND budget is allocated each financial year. The money is used to provide additional support or resources dependant on an individual's needs. Provision may include: teaching assistant support individually or in small groups; bought in support from external agencies e.g. SENSS; provision of specialist resources e.g. writing slopes; staff professional development relating to SEND
- Where a child's needs become more complex or they are not making progress despite the additional provision that has been put in place, additional funding may be requested from the local authority and/or an application for an Education, Health and Care Plan may be made.

How is the decision made about what type and how much support my child or young person will receive? Who will make the decision and on what basis? (IRR)

- The type of support that a child may need will be discussed by staff, parents and child when needs are initially identified. Where a child's needs are more complex, advice may be sought from other agencies, with permission from parents. (IRR)

How will equipment and facilities to support children and young people with SEND be secured? (IRR)

- The school has a range of equipment and facilities available to support children with SEND and these are regularly evaluated and updated.
- Some specialist equipment can be provided through the school budget eg. writing slopes, spiky cushions.
- For more specific equipment there is a number of outside agencies who can be contacted to provide this equipment on a loan basis i.e. specific wheelchairs

How will you and I know how my child or young person is doing and how will you help me to support their learning? (IRR)

Your child's progress is continually monitored by his/her class teacher.

- His/her progress is reviewed formally every term in reading, writing and maths, using age related expectations, as well as progress in other subjects, as appropriate.
- At the end of year 1, all children take the phonics screening test and at the end of year 2 and year 6, all children are required to be formally assessed using Standard Assessment Tests (SATs). This is something the government requires all schools to do and the results are published nationally. Children also take the multiplication check at the end of Year 4.
- There will be termly meetings with parents of children with SEND to discuss the progress the children have made towards their individual targets.
- The progress of children with an EHC Plan is formally reviewed at an Annual Review with all adults involved with the child's education.

Teaching, Learning and Support

We will keep you informed in a variety of ways, which may include: informal conversations, letters/certificates sent home; annual school reports. We will share with you different ways in which you can support your child with their learning at home, eg. through regular reading practice.

How does the setting, school or college consult with and involve children and young people with SEND in planning and reviewing their education? (IRR)

We regularly ask the children their views eg. via a termly review with SEND children and annually before an EHCP review, through the SENDCO's termly pupil voice questionnaire, and more generally through pupil voice opportunities via the School Council, and subject leaders' termly pupil voice questionnaires.

How does the setting/school/college assess and evaluate the effectiveness and sufficiency of its arrangements and provision for children and young people with SEND? (IRR)

We hold a termly SEND review where staff look at the progress of each child with SEND and review the support that they are being offered. We also have a termly review meeting with parents, involving children at a level appropriate to their age and ability, to discuss the children's progress, along with annual reviews where children have EHCPs.

Keeping Students Safe and Supporting Their Wellbeing

How do you ensure that my child or young person stays safe outside of the classroom?

We take a number of steps to ensure that all children can take part safely in all areas of the curriculum and on school trips. For example:

- Risk assessments are carried out regularly within school and prior to any off site activity to ensure that everyone's health, safety and wellbeing are fully considered and supported.
- If a health and safety risk assessment suggests that an intensive level of 1:1 support is required, we will endeavour to provide additional support. This may include asking a parent or carer to accompany their child during the activity in addition to the usual school staff if it is felt that this would benefit the child.
- We also ensure that your child will be safely handed over to a member of staff at the door each morning and to the nominated adult in person at the end of the day, up to Year 5. From Year 6 onwards, with parental permission, children may leave school independently at the end of the school day.
- Where a child may require additional support during break/lunch or transitional times, a nominated member of staff will be allocated.

What pastoral support is available to support my child or young person's overall well-being?

All school staff work hard to know our children and families well and build supportive and nurturing relationships throughout school. Children know that they can talk to any member of staff and they will be listened to. We have a whole school focus on promoting positive mental health and emotional well-being, and we use the Jigsaw scheme as a basis for our PSHE teaching which includes teaching the children about how to make friends and about anti-bullying.

Keeping Students Safe and Supporting Their Wellbeing

How will the setting, school or college manage my child or young person's medicine or personal care needs?

If required, and in agreement with parents/carers and the Head teacher, prescribed medicines are administered in school where a signed medication form is in place. All medicine administration procedures adhere to the LA policy and DfE guidelines included within Supporting pupils at school with medical conditions (DfE) 2014.

Pupils having a medical or intimate care need may require a detailed Care Plan which is compiled by the school in consultation with the school nursing service/ medical professionals and parents/carers. These are discussed with all staff who are involved with the pupil. Pupils will be supported with their intimate care and personal needs, including dietary, where necessary.

What support is available to assist with my child or young person's emotional and social development? (IRR)

Personal, social and emotional well-being is at the heart of our school and everything we do. For pupils requiring further support, the school uses emotional coaching techniques when required and a child may work in a small group to develop the skills they need to work on. This work is supported through regular discussions by class teachers, teaching assistants, the head teacher and families. We use the Boxall Profile to help identify specific areas of development and measure progress towards them. For more complex needs, the school may seek the services of other agencies e.g. Mental Health Support Team or Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAHMS).

What support is there for behaviour, avoiding exclusions and increasing attendance?

The school has a clear behaviour policy which is implemented consistently through school. We aim to support all children in managing their behaviour, using a variety of strategies and seeking support from external agencies if necessary. Exclusion is used very rarely and only when unavoidable. A copy of the school's behaviour policy and exclusion policy can be found on the school website. Attendance is monitored regularly by the head teacher and there are a series of procedures based on working closely with families should a concern about attendance arise. This may involve support from the Education Welfare Officer.
